Dr. Antonio Tere, a Cuban, and I, who has made us earnest plea for independence. He claims, I believe, that the parlance of annexation are worthy American and Spanish readers and that the native Cubans decline for complete self-government. I noticed a change in public sentiment has come over the island of Cuba with regard to Cuba's future government. A year and a half ago the American press was almost unanimous in calling for Cuban Independence. There is now, if we observe the tide, a strong current of opinion in favor of annexation. I dare alone, I may still wish to see Cuba free, but I am not so sure. Annexation would mean a break with its social disturbances. Cuba is not another Hawaii which was easy enough to deprive. Cuba's salutary condition is of deep concern to us all so is so our coast line. I notice lately that many prominent business men connected with the Cuban trade and who have been interviewed are in favor of annexation; but they are opposed to forcing the situation. I believe that our military occupation of the island is a source of constant irritation to the natives who no doubt consider it a tyranny. Now I am not a statesman but I have an opinion and it is this:—We should carry out our promise; we should take our troops out of Cuba and leave the people to govern themselves until such time as they prefer annexation. This Cuban question overshadows in gravity the Philippines problem. We made no promise to the

The Christian people and the Mohammedans are alike in the central concept of Christian ethics. "To return good for evil" was preached on all occasions. I wonder if the Mohammedans carried it out as well as the Christians. The teachers the nineteenth century? (Ha! Ha!) Another precept of the Koran was:

"Think only of what is good for each, consider not the wrong that has been done thus, pardon others readily and do good to all." Yes—when the world does this then the millennium will reign. There are people in this old world that have mequanimity and charity but they are like angels' visits and you know how they are.

note to many of our literature and in the opinion of many of our "sticklers" for elegance, social distinction, or refinement, a far cry from the "country house" that a broader, more Democratic sense exists today. I presume each individual would love to transport to his land where there are "fifteen of the best of the best" (the "Chatterboxes") those rooms, peep, dignitaries etc. Promotional entertainments are also deplored, when the bunnies of the "country house" are seen to be busy and rustic among leaves that have not fallen from our mother oak again. I would suggest that we should only attend receptions at Buckingham Palace, and that we should not go to see her majesty's band and kiss it in the royal hallways and when one's lines descend from Poeschke's or Patsch's "country house" to the "country house" traditional right (perhaps) to him from the Queen on the beach or forested by way of acknowledgment. It would be a good idea to be should all Americans "fleeing" to the "country house" on a visit to the "country house" on a visit to the renowned court of James to enjoy a greater degree of prestige on both sides of the Atlantic. I would suggest that we should not and we but know all the line and the "country house" "body" would be discovered. There is a certain amount of parading in the "country house" and we should see as in our own Republic's "circle" circles. I cannot imagine why we should "people of inferior birth in any

ANNOUNCEMENT.

We are authorized to announce that the National Democratic Committee, says—Trans and expansion will be the issues in the next national campaign.

Mr. Jones, the Chairman of the National Democratic Committee, says—Trans and expansion will be the issues in the next national campaign.

Breckenridge county had a live, active, working representative in the 10th Congressional District, in the person of Mr. Carl Richardson. You can hold a Breckenridge boy down. No matter where you find them, they stand in the front rank and that's where the news loves to see them.

Almost one year ago and a million dollars have been devoted to the Breckenridge's owner, Sir. William Tipton, to the purpose of winning the world's championship in yachting from America. We will hold this supremacy for the next eight years. In both kinds of weather, fair and foul, the three races were made and each time the Columbia came out victorious.

Once more we have conquered the British. The matter of the cup is simply incidental; it is the principle of the thing that we take a pride in. We are willing to be equal and superior to other nations, but never behind them.

Mr. McKinley may or may not be wrong in his Philippine policy, he may or may not be wise in his course of speech-making, but he may or may not be to be president in 1900, but one thing is sure, he is mighty correct in his statements to school children in his speech at Duluth.

This speech in another column of this paper should be read by the pupils, teachers, and all others interested in the cause of education and character building.

The street Carnival at Louisville was a big success. Great crowds of people were attracted by it. We are glad to see Louisville making it. The young, intelligent blood of that city is coming to the front. The men of ideas, of brains, of push and energy are taking hold of affairs. Who are not afraid of work, men with capital, who are not afraid to invest it, these are the men who build up cities and communities. See how that Carnival stirred this state from one end of it to the other. The dollars it put in circulation, of the money bright and happy faces, and friendly greetings that were seen and exchanged. There is no man or woman who could that Carnival from the country, who is not singing the praises of Louisville and the Eka. This is as it should be. The city people can live without the country people and the country people can't get along very well without the city folks, so let us get in touch with each other and we'll be more prosperous and happier. All honor to the Eka and the Carnival.

These was another very important meeting held in Louisville last week. One that means more for the success of this section than any that has been held in years. We are the Ohio Valley Improvement Association. The object of this Association is the improvement of the Ohio river and its tributaries, something that every citizen is interested in. The Ohio river is interested in ought to be. Representative river men from Pittsburgh to Paducah were present, and discussed ways and means of securing more water and better transportation facilities. The discussions were very interesting and we think of vast importance to the farming and business interests of the Ohio Valley. There should have been a better attendance from the lower Ohio. Every town from Louisville to Cairo ought to have been represented. As it was, there were only two or three; Cloverport, Tell City and Evansville. The government has done a great work for the upper Ohio, and it will do the same for the lower, if it will go to the right way. The next meeting will be held in Cairo the first of the year round, would mean a whole lot of money to the farmers along the river, and that is what we want. The delegates were royally entertained at the hotel. Capt. W. W. Hise and Mr. E. G. Galt, local secretary, were especially kind and courteous. The Association meets next year at Cincinnati.

Miss Virginia Rhodes has returned from a visit to Louisville.

Miss Ben Lewis spent last week in Louisville and is at home again.

Miss R. C. Malt, of Owensboro, is visiting her daughter, Mrs. George Worland.

Dr. Gaskett, of Boston, Mass., visited his aunt, Mrs. George Dowd last week.

Miss Bettie Clarkson is visiting her grandmother, Mrs. Annetta Clarkson, near Big Spring.

H. H. Harrison, son Harry and Guy Herdman went to Louisville to see and hear Wm. Jennings Bryan.

Dr. Parks, of Webster, was here Sunday to see one of our dearest girls, "a gem of parent ray serene."

The donation party at the Methodist parsonage was a success. The donations were beautiful and a pleasant reception was held.

My next door neighbors, Mr. and Mrs. Jeff Ditt, have a new boy at their home. A fine, lively fellow as one could wish to see.

Judge R. P. Woolf, wife and daughter, Miss Lula, Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Woodson and children made a party last week to the Carnival.

Miss J. Casper went to Louisville last week to see her sister, Mrs. Rosa Wages, who is dangerously ill. Much sympathy is felt for Mrs. Casper.

Miss Barbara Shacklett went to Louisville for a day or two and brought home the very latest style. See her at the room next to Farmers' Bank.

Miss Emma Fontaine is able to be about of the time and place of the year. She is not quite her handsome jovial self, but we hope she soon may be.

I am indebted to D. M. Duncan for many favors as regards my report to the Courier-Journal concerning political speeches, election returns, etc. He understands just how.

I am glad to learn through a telegram to the Evening Post that Mr. R. M. Jolly of Irvin, is better. I have been much concerned about his condition and the anxiety of his good wife.

Miss Lida Powell has returned from the city with all the latest fads and fancies in the dressmaking line—at your service. Miss Fannie Phillips is well during excellent work.

I am not prepared nor could I ever be to accept all Governor Bradley claimed for his party at the Auditorium—his speech in such a manner as to elicit a word of praise. I am not a narrow partisan.

A committee of prominent citizens in San Francisco has taken steps toward the establishment of a library in Manila for the use of our soldiers. Enthusiastic women as usual will carry it to execution.

Brother Davall preached a strong sermon last Sunday to the young converts. Bro. Litchfield preached at Cedar Grove. His Sundays for the present are 1st and 3rd. The Baptists are 2nd and 4th and the Presbyterians are 1st and 3rd.

The ladies and girls of this little town are the most energetic, industrious individuals to be found on this globe, I verily believe and that is not saying a word against the stronger sex. Breckenridge is full of brains and bees. Employment is plentiful.

Next Saturday ex-Governor James B. McCreary will speak here. He is supporting the Music Hall Candidate, Hon. Hal C. Corbett is killed for the same day. He is a Brown man. I don't know whether they will divide time or divide crowds. I have heard Mr. McCreary (he was a success in Ohio) and he is a finished speaker with a fine command of the English language.

Among the pictures of officers of the Grand Lodge, which convened in Louisville, was one of Jas. A. Campbell, of Paducah, Grand Senior Deacon. Mr. Ashcraft was raised in this old town and married Miss Mollie Brown, one of our town girls, a beauty too. Mr. Ashcraft is an uncle of Miss Hallie Dowdy of this place.

Prof. D. C. Culler was born grammarian. He was an enthusiast on the science of grammar and the manner in which he could impart instruction and improve truth was something wonderful. He left out all non-essentials but drove to a complete finish every essential. My class commenced old Butler with him, (all of us about 12 or 14) and continued with him until we were at school at seven or eight. We analyzed and parsed by modification from different poets and writers, took up rhetoric and Kena's Ovidian, but we never failed to come up twice a week with "old Butler"—We didn't have "parsing" in those "old fog" days and "laying aside" but kept on parsing, reading, writing and spelling with higher branches included.

Be sure and read our great offer of the Breckenridge News for a year and the Farm Journal for the balance of 1899 and all of 1900, 1901, 1902 and 1903, nearly five years, all for the price of our paper alone. Just walk on to the captain's office and draw the biggest prize you ever drew.

Misses Handeys, of Preston, were guests of Miss Sallie Baskett Saturday and Sunday. Miss Nannie remains the rest of the week with her.

JUST AN AVERAGE MAN.

A Globe-Democrat Correspondent
Writes The Glory of the Communiplike.

I was talking concerning a certain man of what sort he was. "Oh, just an average fellow, you know," he answered. "He never will let the river run." This he said to me, saying to myself, surely this must be a good sort of chap; for if he averages well with men that ought to be enough. Come to think of it, I have rarely got on well with those folks who are above the average. As for setting the river on fire, pray why should anyone wish to set it on fire? That saying about rivers came over from England, where they sometimes complain of a man that he cannot set the Thames on fire. It is this trying to set things on fire that has won and wronged and forested, to kindle a fire of water, that wastes most of the time of people, and causes most of the mischief. Why not let things go on as nature gave her orders?

So I sought out my average fellow, intent to make a friend of him. He is a very admirable in all respects. He is the same every day. He comes and goes on the stroke of the clock. He never agitates me any more than 7 o'clock agitates me. He is himself not extensible and therefore does not rub the nerves. I don't think he writes poetry. He does what he has to do quietly and regularly, and he becomes a part of your life, as the morning and evening suitors are of your daily existence. I have never seen him putting a match to the water, nor have I ever seen him undertake any astonishing enterprise. But he makes a good friend, and a world full of much shape would at least be a comfortable world. It cannot be denied, on the contrary, that a man with a good, just, even genius is capable of destroying all the comfort of his friends, as well as his enemies. Why shall I not sing the glory of the communiplike?

Our schools are in error when they endeavor to make every boy a marked character, an extraordinary scholar. It is much better that they should be just ordinary. Stained ambition leads to all sorts of false efforts and merely to intellectual and moral bankruptcy. Individuality as the basis of educational reform is well enough and we cannot have a good deal to Ptolemy and to his followers for riding out of the platform method of educating our boys and girls, but it is a serious blunder to suppose that every child should be educated as a genius, rather, as a penitentiary. Just to live well and honorably, to keep the peace, pay one's debts and be clean-hearted is not to be a failure. Teach the boy that, and you will be likely to get a good boy and a good man, if you do not get something astonishing. "In my opinion," said Dr. Jacques, "the school should begin to teach that the real end of life is to create a good home and raise a happy family. This would bring about a good deal of communiplike, it is true, but what we need to get rid of these uncommonly extraordinary folks, with extraordinary notions, and all sorts of outre characteristics." I am inclined to think that the doctor hits the nail fairly on the head, and that child study has gone to seed.

I am not arguing for a low type, a sort of a universal man with a bow. However, Millet did not mean to paint the generation in his picture. He said of it, "I have tried to portray the animal getting off four legs. Behold I show him already on three. He ships up on two, and his face illumined by the sun shall be as God's face." The man with the hoe means progress. He is a good deal of a good description of the communiplike that is simply looking forward and upward. That is an average good sort of human life. But to look down—never! The communiplike does nothing of the sort. It is a part of evolution. Everybody who is looking up can move along quietly and be very common. The down-lookers are another set, constituting the real mass. These are the individualized, not like others, because understanding and it is every man's business why they are still the common folk.

Nature loves the communiplike. She repeats a pretty thing a million times over. With all her variety she does the lot of average things. It is wonderful how many details she makes, over and over again, in a fifty-acre lot. Dandelions she does not get enough of. Look over the fields and see what it does. In the way of communiplike weeds, beautiful wild hedge rows of apples and baskets of grapes hanging down, parried, with dandelions, everyone so much like the other! Look over your corn field; not a single plant standing on its head, every one with its roots downward in the soil. I have not a doubt but that Nature could prove that the roots ought to be in the air, and the tassels somewhere else than where they are. Nature does not see things after this manner. The volcanoes are rare, the wild pinks are common, and I am glad of it. Nature acts with people as she does with plants. She rarely makes a genius, but she makes a crowd of common folk. Their trouble is that so many desire to get out of the common and do something unusual. This ambition can easily be made to be a trouble. Four men were killed and several wounded. Company D is now encamped at Quigley, about thirty-seven miles from Manila. We are having a very hard time at present attending our post duties. We get to sleep one night in every three. I think it will not last long, for we are ordered to the front again.

FROM A SOLDIER BOY.

Charles W. Meyer Gives An Account of His Trip To The Philippines.

MANILA, P. I., AUG. 4, 1909.—MY DEAR COUNTRYMEN: I wish to give you an account of my trip to this place. We left Fort Snelling January 30th, and proceeded to St. Paul in street cars, and as the thermometer registered 30 degrees below zero, many of us froze our noses and toes. We were very glad when we were snugly stowed away in the sleepers. We arrived at New York Feb. 2nd, after being nearly frozen, and marched aboard the transport Sherman. On the 3rd we started on our long voyage across the Atlantic. After a journey of ten days during which time many were vomiting, sea sickness and seasickness and one soldier died, we arrived at Gibraltar on the 13th. After burying the dead and taking a supply of coal, we left Gibraltar the 15th and sailed along the northern coast of Africa. The weather was good and all was well until noon of the 22nd day, when a man, who was sitting with his back against the chain breaking, and before the ship could be stopped was drowned.

And the 26th we arrived at Port Said, Egypt, and spent one day coaling there. We saw many strange and interesting sights. One of the strangest sights was the ladies mode of dressing. They wear a heavy veil covering the face, exposing only their eyes only to the vulgar gaze of the world. Another thing that was more than ordinary interest, was the Sun worshippers.

After leaving Port Said, we sailed down the Blue canal and for three days nothing met our eyes but a waste of barren sand. On the 30th we passed the Suez Canal, and the day following we wrote the ten communiplike.

We arrived at Port Said, Africa, March the 8th. This seemed, I believe, the most desolate place on earth, the only thing to break the monotony of the surroundings, being a native with a camp climbing sand hills. Here we spent one day coaling, leaving on the 11th March. We arrived at Colombo Ceylon island on the 10th. Here we could ride all over the island, and it is every man's business why they are still the common folk.

One private of Company D has been absent since last Sunday, and the report came in today that he was found near Bolong, our headquarters, with his head cut off. One corporal and one private from Company B and a beer sign started from Manila and were captured by the insurgents.

New I have given you a brief idea of my journey from Fort Snelling Minn., to Manila, P. I. I remain yours, Charles W. Meyer, Company D, 3rd U. S. Infantry.

Costly Conversations.
Long distance telephone conversations or rather a series of conversations, recently occurred between parties in New York and St. Louis. The total cost of the talk was said to be about $10,000. The talk was said to be a very long one, and the bill for one continuous conversation amounted to $716. This figure indicates that the talk must have lasted into the high priced day hours, for anyone can converse from eight o'clock in the evening to six o'clock in the morning for $100, the rate being $1 per minute. Exotic cure was taken to avoid payment by operators cutting into the line—Spec.

TRAGIC REWARD.

Mrs. Campbell Must Pay To Have Her Son Freed.

One of the most unique and tragic cases in the history of Georgia, says the Atlanta Constitution, was brought to a close when the supreme court handed down a decision affirming the decision of the lower court, which will compel Mrs. Sarah Campbell to pay the reward which she offered for the capture of the assassin of her own son for the murder of his brother.

The uniqueness of the case arises from the fact that the reward was offered for the capture of the assassin of her own son for the murder of his brother. The woman was offered the reward for the capture of the assassin of her own son for the murder of his brother. The woman was offered the reward for the capture of the assassin of her own son for the murder of his brother.

The circumstances surrounding the murder were of a nature that baffled those searching for the felonious views. The man had been murdered, and that was the end of the matter. The woman was offered the reward for the capture of the assassin of her own son for the murder of his brother. The woman was offered the reward for the capture of the assassin of her own son for the murder of his brother.

So a paper bearing all the earmarks of law was prepared, and Mrs. Campbell signed it, guaranteeing the payment of a certain sum for the arrest and conviction of the murderer of her brother. She then wrote that it was her understanding that a negro well known in the community was suspected, and it was upon this statement that she consented to be responsible for the reward.

Her own husband then that she was signing the death warrant of her only remaining son, a son upon whom she lived, and the reward of a family, but she would never have put pen to paper, but she signed it.

Fate plays queer pranks sometimes. Shortly after the ink dried on the paper before the reward then her other son was arrested for the murder of his brother. The document came like a thunderbolt, and the shock nearly upset the reason of the widow.

BASKETT COAL!
IS A JEWEL.

That is the verdict of all housekeepers who used BASKETT COAL as a fuel last winter.

Its Good Points Are Numerous.
It's An Economical Coal. . . .

For the reason that it gives more heat for the money than any other coal on the market. It makes a steady, lasting fire. Fill your stove or grate with it at night, close your drafts and you've got a fire that lasts until morning. You do not have to use as much BASKETT COAL as other kinds, because it has more substance and weight to it than fast burning coal.

IT'S A CLEAN COAL.

THE BASKETT COAL is clean. All good bituminous coal produces clinkers, so does the Baskett, but it makes less clinkers and less ashes than most other varieties, and is therefore an ideal grate or stove coal.

BASKETT COAL is a superb fuel for use in flouring mills, tobacco factories, saw mills and manufacturing plants.

DENUNCIATION

Of Democrats in General And
'The Little Democrat'
In Particular.

A Plea For The Republican Vote.

TO EDITOR OF NEWS. DEAR SIR:—Happening to get hold of one of your papers, I struck the eye of the latest, most interesting, as well as important paper in the state. A man can derive information in almost any branch of business and training from it. Four Democratic correspondents are like all Democrats. They are the kind that inherit their political wisdom from their ancestors. They have neither the energy nor the brain to gather their own political knowledge and keep up with the times.

The man from Kirk, Ky., surely has not studied the Democratic history of Kentucky during the last 50 years, or he wouldn't want a change from Republican rule to the Democratic incompetence and the debt-making at the rate of $60,000 a year or $7,500,000 up to 1890. Since then the debt has decreased. I love for his state ought to tell him better. Whatever mistakes the Republicans have made were caused by Democratic officials, who obstructed and hindered the wheels of the government whenever they could. If the Democrats really wanted to work for the benefit of the state and the good of the people, they would have done so, but 30 years of past government does not show it, nor does the present Democratic party of the state give any sign of doing any better.

The Kirk man tells of me. I think the Democrats of the past have been a curse to the state and the late Louisville convention and also the Weaver administration, of this city, show plainly enough that the Democrats of today in the state of Kentucky have lost all sense of decency and of honest manhood. The trouble with them is, those Democrats, in position and every day, they are high in respect, honor, religion and honesty as the best of Democrats in the eyes of the Democrats themselves. Why then elect dishonest and treacherous Democrats in preference to an honest Republican?

Yours Respectfully,
SAM THOMAS.

Prices in Journalism.

Journalism, once one of the most despised of professions, now the St. Louis

Globe-Democrat, is now becoming a saling that may be described as aristocratic if one takes into account the many sad and woman possessed of fine blood, or of titles, or of both together, that are to be found in its ranks in the Old World, where connection with the press does not any longer constitute an obstacle to admission to any good club, or even from entrance into society.

Among the names given in this article of titled personages, who have been actively engaged in journalism are those of Prince Bismarck, of St. Petersburg, and Lord Beaconsfield, of London. Viscount

Montrose is at the present time editor and business manager of the Scottish Life. Lady Grenville, a pioneer of the press, was the first to write weekly letters on social etiquette and fashion

in the London Graphic, while Lady

Randolph Churchill's son derives immense profits from his connection with the London Times. The proprietor of the London Truth and its editor, Henry Labouchere, M. P., are related to the peerage; while the late Earl of Des-ford was the managing editor of another

London weekly paper at the time of his death.

At Madrid nearly all the newspaper proprietors are titled, and at Berlin a long list of nobles of both sexes are to be found among the contributors to the daily and weekly press.

The principal reason for the invasion of the members of the Old World into the ranks of journalism, and the reason for the invasion of the ranks of journalism by the members of the Old World, is the fact that the principal consideration now is money-making and not the intelligent man of letters possessed of any special knowledge or experience can earn more the first year than he can in any other profession.

It is the fact that the principal consideration now is money-making and not

The Empire Disq Drill.

Best Disq Drill made. This is a superb machine, and will give perfect satisfaction where a Hoe Drill will not work. It will never clog up with corn stalks, weeds and grass, or foul trash of any kind. It does not make any difference how hard the ground is, or how thick the trash, it will do excellent and successful work.

There's just one right way to sow seed—just one way that's accurate, reliable and profitable, all at the same time and that's the EMPIRE DRILL way. There are reasons enough to fill a book, so we've filled one, and will be pleased to send it free to those who are sufficiently interested to ask for it. Address and will leave all home in Virginia. T. O. Lewis, the jeweler, will have a large stock of holiday goods this season. James K. Nichols, who handles the express from the depot, is on the sick list. Mr. Matthias Baker, of Sulphur Springs, Ohio county, was visiting here last week. Sherman Hall and Ed Guthrie spent two days at the Louisville Carnival last week. Miss Tina Daniels, after a visit of several weeks at St. Louis, has returned home. J. B. Bates, of the Bates Milling Company, Jolly Station, was in town last Monday. Rev. Mr. Petty and family, the new pastor of the M. E. church, arrived last Thursday. Mr. Will DeHaven and Miss Clara DeJorante were married in Louisville last Wednesday. Jesse Pallas, of Troy, Ind., was the guest of Miss Alice Witt last Saturday and Sunday. T. O. Lewis, the jeweler, is at his place of business again, and will be glad to see his old friends. Mrs. J. W. Bigham left last Wednesday, for Marion, Ky., where she will join her husband. Miss Ella Collins, who has been visiting Mrs. P. Dillon, returned to her home in Cannon last week. The special carried out a number of our people last Monday for Louisville to see Bernum's great show. Richard May is on the sick list. He accompanied Dr. Baker to Louisville last week to consult a physician. If you need anything in the jewelry line, Mr. T. O. Lewis will be glad to see you and make you some price. George Simmonce and Miss Daisy Meador will be married this evening at the residence of Mr. Ab Davis in this city. James D. Johnson, of Garfield, was here last Monday and employed Surveyor Royalty to go out and make a survey of his lands. The new church out at Kirk is all completed except the steeple. These regular will be placed in before the next regular preaching service. The new piece of macadamized road near the depot, is a good piece of work. It should have been extended to the railroad crossing. Miss Mary Lawler, who has been here for some time, is expecting to leave in a short time for Missouri, where she may spend the winter. Riley Johnson, of Hudsonville, was here last Monday and had his license renewed in the County Court to sell liquors at that point another year. We have just added to our stock some boys' suits at $1.75 and men's pants at 90 cents and $1.50. After a modest time of merriment, under the leadership of the pastor, the young ladies have been solicited funds for the purpose, but they haven't raised quite enough money as yet. All the roads leading out from this town are in good condition. The road grade has been put to good use, and it is to be hoped that the roads may hold up to their present condition for some time. The Baptist revival which has been going on at Oliver Creek for the last week, has been drawing large crowds. The community has been greatly benefited by the work, and the church strengthened. WEBSTER. Gnebelism is not Democracy. What is making a nice growth. The health of the country is slightly improved. It is not about time for this town to go "dry"? The tobacco crop cured up well, and is of a pretty color. Miss Anna Claycomb is visiting in Henderson county. Born to the wife of Charlie Bruce, a son boy, the 20th inst. J. Q. Biggs was here last week, talking tobacco to our farmers. T. G. Jordan and son, Lee, are quite sick of typhoid fever. Willie Board, of Owensboro, came up Saturday for a two week's visit. Mrs. Mary Compton, of near Pierce, visited her son, T. J. Compton, last week. Hal Drane was in Louisville last week, buying a stock of goods to put in at Clinton Mills. The vicinity of Clinton Mills is a good place to go to buy a farm. The fever is still on down there. Webster is no longer a voting place, and we will all have to go to Clinton Mills to vote in November. It is better for any political party to suffer defeat than to elect its party nominees to office, if he is a bad man. What think you the writer of the Declaration of Independence would think of Gnebelism, were he alive? Fred Moorman's face is swathed with smiles, occasioned by the arrival of a little boy at his home, the 21st inst. Clinton Mills seems to be taking on new life, and it is quite probable that this old town will be heard from again. Miss Emma Kurtz and Mrs. Lucy Kurtz went to Hardin county last week to attend the Miller-Kinkaid nuptials. Taylor, the Republican candidate for Governor, is remarkable in one respect at least; not one allyable, detrimental to him to see now, but you have seen some of his work in the past. At the Owensboro Board, one of the best men of this country, died the 20th inst. of typhoid fever, leaving a wife and four small children. The sympathy of the community goes out to the bereaved family. From the recent experience of our leading candidate for Representative, we are assured of the fact that we will have an advocate of the cause of temperance in the next House from this county. We trust that we have not the same assurance from all our candidates for gubernatorial honors. LEWISPORT. Davy Brodsky, of Haverhill, spent Sunday here. Rev. DeWitt, of the M. E. Church, has been re-assigned to the Lewisport Circuit. H. L. Myers and wife, Walter Blinn and J. T. Blackford attended the Carnival at Louisville last week. Hon. Thos. S. Pettit, he of the scrobalic proclivities, spoke here Thursday night to a good audience. Mr. Pettit's speech was a very creditable one from his point of view, and was well received. Postmaster Myers has appointed Miss George Pettit as his deputy. Miss P. is a very bright and popular young lady, and the honor could not have been more worthily bestowed. Dr. George Dawson, a prominent young physician, of Stanley, Ky., was well known to the people of this place, where he formerly resided, is reported as being ill of pneumonia, superinduced by long trouble, with slight chance for recovery. Dr. Dawson has many friends here who hope his condition is not as serious as reported. Hon. D. R. Murray, of Clarksport, is billed to speak at Pierce's school house four miles south of town this Wednesday evening at 8.30 in the interest of the Music Hall ticket. Mr. Murray is an able orator and will no doubt be greeted with a large and appreciative audience. It has occurred to me that if some of the correspondents of the country newspapers would pay more attention to the views of their respective localities and less to the political issues of the day it would add to the interest of their communications. Leave national politics to the Metropolitan editors. Give them a chance, and if they don't handle such questions to your liking then jump onto them with both feet. No doubt such heroic measures would have a salutary effect, and would cause them to become entirely subservient to your wishes and views as regards politics. The Owensboro Inquirer of Thursday contained an account of the arrest of J. E. Hayner, of Lewisport, on the charge of obtaining money under false pretenses, and also of defrauding the Roby Home

CANCER IS DEAD!

Swain Family in New York
Cancer Out of the—A Cure Found at Last.

This fearful disease, which has appeared as a man's enemy, a people's curse, a nation's scourge, is now being destroyed. Cancer can not be cured by a surgical operation, because the cancer is a vitalized poison in the blood, circulating throughout the system, and although the sore or ulcer—known as the Cancer—may be cut away, the poison remains in the blood, and promptly breaks out afresh, with renewed violence.

The wonderful success of S. S. S. in curing obstinate, deep-seated blood diseases which were considered incurable, induced a few despairing sufferers to try it for Cancer, after exhausting the skill of the physicians without a cure. Much to their delight S. S. S. proved equal to the disease and promptly effected a cure. The glad news spread rapidly, and it was soon demonstrated beyond doubt that a cure had at last been found for deadly Cancer. Evidence has accumulated which is incontrovertible, of which the following is a specimen:

"Cancer is hereditary in our family, my father, a sister and an aunt having died from this dreadful disease. My feelings may be imagined when the terrible disease made its appearance on my side. It was a malignant cancer, eating inwardly in such a way as to cause great alarm. The disease seemed beyond the skill of the doctors, for their treatment did no good whatever, the cancer growing worse all the while. Numerous remedies were used for it, but the Cancer grew steadily worse, until it seemed that I was doomed to follow the others of the family, for I knew how deadly Cancer is, especially when inherited. I was advised to try Swift's Specific (S. S. S.), which, from the first day, forced out the poison. I continued its use until I had taken eighteen bottles, when I was cured sound and well, and have had no symptoms of the dreadful affliction, though many years have elapsed. S. S. S. is the only cure for Cancer.—Mrs. M. M. Lyon, Webster, N. C."

Our book on Cancer, containing other testimonials and valuable information, will be sent free to any address by the Swift Specific Company, Atlanta, Georgia.
